Lie should really be careful these days

A dragon knight sure killed

Is that Blackthorn? It looks really pretty

The tower is completely sealed off right now, as well

Now think it was the hunters from the other side?

The way they would've done something that bold in front of the city

But the only people who can defeat the dragon knights are either minor beasts, or other constructs like them

Who is that?

Ah, I saw him before. He's the Commander-in-chief or something

What? Isn't that right?

Look It's Prince Reihort!

Blackstone only appears under certain conditions. When one forcefully uses a dragon artifact without a contract...

Blackstone

...or when one possesses a high-class Dragon Artifact.

Dragon Artifact is the first step to becoming a Dragon.

Judging by the reaction, I'd say that he was using an artifact that was more suited for him.

Honestly, we have no way of identifying the corpse due to the nature of Blackstone.

In this stage, we can't even tell if this is the dragon brought himself.

It's also possible that he activated his artifact as he threw it in the middle of the crowd.

Identification is impossible.

That's why the missing dragon artifact is so important.

As part of the procedure,
I have sent them a telegram
but this is to the outside of town.

The Palace Knights
and Your Majesty are in charge of the situation
at least until daylight.

There's probably nothing
over there anyway.

They could very well try and blame this whole ordeal on us.

Developer
Information

Dragon artifact,
Lance of Zalmoxis.

Activate.

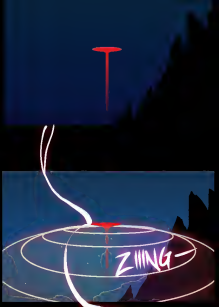

Rune: Manifestation

Search 300m around us for any traces of the Dragon artifact.

Those belong to the Edwards Platoon...

Nothing's
changed there.

It's probably the same
since it's pretty close
to my wing.

This guy is an artist, I see, huh...

It's never had a contractor, I can't even grade it through.

Increase the range.

That's at least a second-grade... It's quite far away from my location. Is that it?

It's just an ordinary
dragon artifact.

Did it go wrong?

It was something much more like a source...

I don't know what this, but I can't let the others get to it before I do!

I wonder if my father arrived home safely.

The lights
are out

Rather must be home!

who is this disturbing
noise coming from...?

What are you two doing
there?

Let's assess
the situation
inside, first.

it's nothing
shall we leave tonight?

I'm back!

Father,
did you just arrive?

I'll prepare something for you
after I switch the lights on.

On the way home

I noted that there was a monster in the square!

It looks like they've just to apprehend the criminal so we'll have to avoid going out after sundown until they do.

That was me.

For that reason, we can no longer stay here.

We must leave immediately.

Ah, right.

We should not trouble
the Young Master.

so let us leave
by ourselves.

Won't you agree?

+

Ah... Why must life...

always enter like an unwelcome guest?

Why does it rush on...
